

THE WAR GIRL.
She wore a dress of navy blue,
The collar white and blue and red;
A striped belt—and stockings, too;
A sailor hat was on her head.
Red, white and blue her chaperone,
She had a flag beneath her chin,
She wore a badge—"U. S. Marine,"
A tiny cannon for a pin.
She wore a shell-comb in her hair,
With army buttons all embossed;
Some swords were also sticking there,
And at her belt small rifles crossed.
Her pocketbook was knapsack shape,
Her smelling bottle a wee canteen,
Containing essence of "Crushed Grape,"
The neatest thing I'd ever seen.
Her face was patriotic, too,
And full of everlasting charms;

MINOR CITY TOPICS.

The city council will hold another important special meeting tomorrow evening.
U. S. weather bureau forecast for New Mexico: Partly cloudy weather tonight and Sunday.
The daily fruit shipments from Santa Fe continue to be large in response to an active demand from the outside.
Yesterday's rain cleaned out the Water street sewer and carried away much of the accumulated garbage.
Messrs. Sena, Otero and Chavez comprised a party who were picnicking at the Bishop's ranch in Tesuque canon yesterday.

The New Mexican is pleased to announce that the orchards and gardens of the city suffered very little damage from the flood of yesterday afternoon.
The washouts on the D. & R. G. have been repaired, the train for the north went out on this morning, and expects to make the run to Alamosa without delay or accident.
The business men and property owners of Santa Fe will make a serious error of omission if they fail to put forth immediate and earnest efforts to secure the trade of the Golden Cochiti.

Letters received from members of Captain Stover's Company C, 1st U. S. volunteer infantry, now at Whipple barracks, in Arizona, bring the pleasing intelligence that the boys have received their new uniforms and now look like real soldiers.

The downpour yesterday afternoon was one of the heaviest in the modern history of Santa Fe. For the first time in five years the volume of water was sufficient to flow over the top of the College street bridge. The storm appears to have been essentially local.

In Justice Garcia's police court yesterday afternoon, Melisendo Vigil and George Gree were arraigned on a charge of drunk and disorderly, both pleading guilty. They were each fined $5 and costs, amounting to $9.75, and in default of payment were sent to the city jail for ten days.

The public library and reading room, maintained in this city by the progressive and public-spirited Woman's Board of Trade, is one of the most excellent institutions in the territory of Santa Fe and should be cordially and substantially aided by all good citizens. Contributions of readable books and magazines will answer as well as money.

Miss Crane, the governor's private secretary, is busily engaged on the annual report of the governor to the secretary of the interior. Governor Otero's report last year attracted wide spread attention by reason of its comprehensiveness, but the one now in preparation will be more elaborate in every particular, and will cover all parts of the territory and its varied interests in a very thorough manner.

Yesterday the thermometer at the local weather bureau registered as follows: Maximum temperature, 75 degrees at noon; minimum, 53 degrees at 1 p. m. The mean temperature for the 24 hours was 64 degrees. A fall in temperature of 22 degrees in one hour. During the storm 1.45 inches of water fell in less than an hour. The light showers afterwards bring the total for the day up to 1.45 inches.

Inasmuch as there are no funds to repair the city bridges that were washed away or seriously crippled by yesterday's phenomenal flood, perhaps it would be wise to dedicate part of the road poll tax fund to the immediate restoration of these bridges.

It is reported that a Santa Fe speculator recently risked 50 cents in a lottery scheme in Old Mexico and was rewarded with a check for $250. Doubtless he was not aware that playing lotteries is unlawful in New Mexico.

The rain yesterday played havoc with Mrs. Goodwin's roof, and compelled her guests to go without dinner. The bridge across the creek above Mr. Boyle's was carried away, as was also Mr. Jones' foot bridge.

The marshal should look after the manner in which Quong Hong, the wash-house man near the Exchange, manages his back yard. The premises are filthy and will bring disease.

The plaza policeman, this forenoon, swiftly and dexterously passed a sharp lawn mower over the surface of the city's beautiful park, and the result is that the park looks like it was carpeted with green brushes.

The respected "oldest inhabitant" is busily engaged in repairing his ancient mud-roof today. Doubtless he will watch on after a while that the mud-roof is only useful during dry weather.

The report that masked persons were abroad Tuesday night was started by some simple person seeing the participants in the cake walk going to the opera house.

The native people are taking wagon loads of Santa Fe fruit to outside points these days.
The local doctors are doing a land of fire business vaccinating these days.

Fresh vaccine points and tubes just received at Fischer's.

Court Note.
In the District court for Santa Fe county, in the two cases of the Territory of New Mexico vs. Francisco Chavez, sheriff and ex-officio collector et al, Judge Laughlin and C. H. Gilder, sleeve, attorneys for the defendants, have filed a counterclaim in which it is claimed that there is due from the county to Chavez' estate the sum of $2,501.56, with interest at 6 per cent from January 1, 1892. This claim is made in both cases, making the county's alleged indebtedness to the estate of Chavez amount to about $20,000. This with the attorneys' fees in their case, should they be allowed, will make a considerable increase in the amount of the county debt.

Jose de Jesus Ortiz, a merchant from Pojoaque, is in the city on business and stops at the Bon-Ton.

J. W. Cooper, the well known saw mill man on the upper Pecos, registered at the Palace last night.

Mrs. H. M. Collins and little son left this morning for Denver, where they will visit with relatives for some time.
Geo. and Chas. Neff, health and pleasure seekers from the east, registered at the Exchange hotel from Cerrillos last night.

Colonel R. E. Twitchell, assistant solicitor for the Santa Fe system in New Mexico, returned to his home in Las Vegas last evening.

Mrs. H. J. Emerson and children, of Albuquerque, who have been in the city for several weeks, returned to their home this afternoon.

Ex-Governor Thornton, of Santa Fe, who is now in New York on business, visited the New Mexican "Rough Riders," at Jersey City, today.

Mrs. E. H. Salazar, of Las Vegas, arrived in Santa Fe last evening and will remain in the city, the guest of Mrs. Manderfield and daughters, for two weeks.

Captain H. L. McMurray, who ably represents a prominent Kentucky hardware house in New Mexico, will make the Claire hotel his headquarters for a day or so.

W. A. Williams, of Socorro, who has been in the city for several days, left this morning for Golden, Colo., where he will attend the School of Mines the coming year.

Messrs. E. S. Waddles and Frank E. Reinhardt, commercial tourists, traveling out of St. Joseph and St. Louis, Mo., respectively, are among the late arrivals at the Palace.

Hon. Mariano S. Otero, of Albuquerque, accompanied his wife and daughter as far as Antonio, on their journey to Durango, Colo., and returned to the Palace over the narrow gauge last night and journeyed on soon this afternoon.

Mr. L. C. Cole, a prominent glass manufacturer and oil operator, of Bowling Green, O., who is traveling in gold mines, left the Palace hotel this afternoon for Golden, south Santa Fe county, for the purpose of inspecting some mining properties there.

Hon. Robert E. Morrison, U. S. attorney for Arizona, accompanied by his accomplished bride, enjoying the rare delights of a wedding journey through the east, recently went over from New York to the camp of the famous "Rough Riders" at Jersey City. There Mr. and Mrs. Morrison met their brother, John Morrison, son of Judge A. L. Morrison, U. S. collector, of Santa Fe. Mr. Morrison writes his father that he and his wife immediately took possession of John and carried him over to New York for a bit of a vacation. John looks bronzed and thin from the effects of the tropical climate, but is in perfect health.

Captain Philip J. Barber, prominent and highly respected in the mining and business circles over in the Golden Cochiti, with headquarters at Bland, accompanied by his fair bride, Miss Nellie Overhills, came in from Las Vegas last evening, and drove immediately to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Zimmerman in response to an invitation to an elegant and sumptuous wedding dinner in honor of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Barber will be the guests of the Palace hotel until Sunday afternoon, when they will depart for their future home at Bland.

H. M. Dougherty, who has been attending to cases before the Supreme court, returned to his home in Socorro.
F. B. Houghton, of El Paso, general agent for the Santa Fe system, was in the city today, the guest of Agent Lutz, looking after the interests of the road.

THE COLORED TROOPS.

Warm Words of Praise for the Negro Regiments in Cuba—Mention of Men Known in Santa Fe.

Corporal Harman Wynkoop, now in the hospital at Fort Monroe, has written a letter to Charles J. Parsons, of this city, in which he speaks of the colored regiments that were in Cuba, as follows:

"Every word that has been said in regard to the bravery and efficiency of the negro soldier can be thoroughly appreciated by every man, at least, who was in Cuba, and more so by the 'Rough Riders,' who were in the battles of both La Quasira and San Juan with them, than by any other regiment. We saw them make their great, fearless charges, and we cheered them, too. The 2nd brigade was made up of the 1st cavalry, the 10th infantry, and the 'Rough Riders.' The 10th was on our right and we could see them all the time, never faltering, but in their fearlessness going ahead to victory, with men dropping dead and wounded by their sides. It would have stirred your enthusiasm beyond any point it has ever reached could you have seen them. The 9th cavalry and 24th and 25th infantry also did as good work. Too much cannot be said of the negro soldier, and words can never be found to express the praise due them.

"In the 10th I found some of the boys formerly stationed in Santa Fe who inquired about the people in Santa Fe. Among them were Sergeant Ellison, who was wounded; Sergeant Jake Smith, Murphy, Harris, and a fellow whom we used to call 'Segunda.' I also met a man by the name of Harwood, who used to be in the 10th cavalry band. There is a sergeant in the hospital here, in the same ward with me, who knew your mother and sister when you were a baby. He also knew Mr. Ashford. They soldiered together in the 9th cavalry. His name is Alfred Brown, and was known in Santa Fe as 'Abe.' He is six feet, six inches tall, and was shot through both lungs, but is nearly well now. Billy See has retired and is somewhere in the south. I also saw the 10th infantry band, too numerous to mention, both band and companies. Lieutenant VanVleet was wounded and Captain Barrett died with the yellow fever. Lieutenant VanVleet was very kind to me on the way over to the United States."

ALFALFA FED LAMBS IN FAVOR.

The Pecos Valley Will Add This Item to Its Other Profitable Ventures.

A recent report from Fort Worth says: "A western sheep grower of considerable experience remarked that a factor of some importance in the beef market was the growing consumption of mutton. This he attributed to the improved quality of the mutton offered during the past year."

He also said that the sudden growth in public favor of the mutton was largely due to the lamb-feeding industry which during the past year assumed such large proportions. He noted the increase of the alfalfa feeding business on the Pecos river and stated that the flesh of the alfalfa fattened lamb was equal in flavor to the choicest product of the Ohio valley. He thought that many people avoided mutton, fearing to encounter that "woolly taste," but that on experience with western fattened lambs they will become regular consumers and their prejudice against mutton will disappear, and in this way beef sales will encounter more and more competition daily, and this competition, he thought was already rapidly growing.

The fattening of lambs on alfalfa is an industry that is just opening up in the Pecos Valley. Up to this time the lambs have been sold and shipped to Texas and Colorado points, but sheepmen are now arranging to feed the lambs right here in the valley. It has proven profitable in regions less favored than this and there is no doubt but that the fullest success will follow here. Thus one by one Eddy and the Pecos valley are adding to their profitable industries.

Burlington Route.

RATES REDUCED. TIME CHANGED.

On and after August 14 all classes of tickets will be honored on the Burlington's Chicago Special without additional charge, the extra fare having been abolished.

On the same date, a slight change will be made in the Special's schedule. It will leave Denver at 9:15 a. m., reaching Chicago at 4:25 the next afternoon—in time to connect with afternoon and evening trains for the Atlantic seaboard as well as for such comparatively nearby points as Detroit, Indianapolis, Louisville, Cleveland, Cincinnati and Buffalo.

No deterioration in the superb service offered by the Chicago Special will occur as a result of the changes noted above. That will continue to be, as it has been in the past, supreme in elegance and comfort.

Tickets via the Chicago Special can be had at offices of connecting lines and also at the Union Depot and the Burlington ticket office, 1039 17th Street, Denver.
